Crazy cool online shoe boutique that offers up an endless designer shoe selection for shoppers. While the folks from Gap created the site, expect to see cutting edge styles not co-ed classes, preppy oxfords and tees. The store carries kids, mens and womens styles. Noteworthy, free shipping and free returns are standard.

Fashion forward designs meets traditional pastels for a too sweet shoe for your little one. This online mini-me shoe emporium is just too darn cute. I bought my daughter an adorable pair of pink sandals with chocolate polka dots for her summer dresses. From that point on, it was love! The robust selection of shoes for infants, toddlers, boys and girls will woe you. The trademark polka dots can be found on sandals, slip-ons, and the most charming Maryjanes that I have ever seen. Final note, I found product prices and shipping to be reasonable. Plus the items are tax-free!

I love this site. I stumbled onto this site after discovering the HIGH cost of children's shoes. My little one got blisters from a pair of Target Mary Janes. That was enough to guilt me into a more expensive shoe. Stride Rite shoes have been the best that I have found; however, I am not a fan of their prices! While surfing the web, I discovered ShoeBuy.com. They have a full offering of shoes and accessories for adults and children. They have great prices on Stride Rites, Kid's Keds, Bandolino sandals, tons of running shoes and much more! I was drawn to their frequent 20% off sales and their standard FREE SHIPPING, NO TAX and FREE RETURN / EXCHANGES. I am addicted!

Stride Rite is one of the best and most trusted names in children's shoes. The website even has a printable e-fit tool to measure your child's shoe size, but I would still recommend going to store for a proper fitting. Noteworthy, some Stride Rite stores in the DC Metro area will offer replacement shoes if you child grows a full size in a three month period. Dulles Town Center offers this service.
